

Immunizations for Heart Patients

Protect Your Heart with Vaccines

Why Vaccines Are Important for Cardiovascular Patients?

If you live with heart disease, your immune system may be weaker, and infections can lead to serious complications. Vaccines help protect you from these preventable illnesses, reduce the risk of severe outcomes, and keep your heart healthier.

Take Action

Talk to your doctor today about which vaccines you need to stay healthy and protect your heart from preventable diseases

